Pastor's Pen

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Grace to you and peace! I hope your Thanksgiving Day celebrations were blessed and filled with quality time with your loved ones.

I always appreciate how Thanksgiving falls right near the end of the liturgical year. What a fitting way to close out the Church calendar year—giving thanks! As the preface prayers at Mass often say, “It is truly right and just, our duty and our salvation, always and everywhere to give you thanks...” St. Paul, in his First Letter to the Thessalonians, also recognizes the need to give thanks: “Rejoice always. Pray without ceasing. In all circumstances give thanks, for this is the will of God for you in Christ Jesus” (5:16-18).

Just recently, I read an article from the Dominican priest, Fr. Peter Cameron, O.P., and he commented how indispensable giving thanks is to being human. He reasons, “A fundamental truth of life is that to be myself I need another. I did not create myself; I do not sustain myself in existence. Someone else did and does. Someone else provides the oxygen, the food, and the water I require to stay alive. It is supremely reasonable to reach out to the Someone in thanks for the countless provisions He effects in my life. The more I confess my thanks to him, acknowledging all he gives me and makes possible for me, the more human I become.” Wow... what powerful words! I don't know about you, but those words certainly ring true in my life. The more time I devote to giving thanks, the more life, energy, and joy I seem to experience. Let us, then, not hesitate to offer to God our thanks as we end another liturgical year and look forward to a new beginning with the season of Advent.

Personally, I am incredibly grateful to God for the new parish family I have in all of you! The All Things New transition has certainly brought a lot of challenges, but I've been encouraged and inspired in the way so many—parishioners, staff, clergy—are working together and sacrificing for the common good of us all. Glory to God! It has been and continues to be a privilege to serve this parish family!

Viva Cristo Rey! Long live Christ the King!

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Fr. Scott Scheiderer

ADVENT SEASON

Advent season begins Sunday, December 3rd. This is the beginning of the liturgical year in the Catholic Church. During this time we as Catholics anticipate the arrival or "advent" of Jesus, our long awaited Messiah. Let us celebrate this time with reflection on the virtues of hope, peace, love and joy.

STEWARDSHIP

God generously bestows gifts upon us, spiritual gifts as well as physical gifts. He asks us to use those gifts for the purpose of building up the Kingdom of God and leading others to Jesus Christ. Because we are called to be good and faithful stewards, it is important for us to spend time in prayer with Jesus so that He can instruct us how to best utilize the gifts He has given to us. Do we invest our talents and share them with others? Or, do we go out and bury them, refusing to share them in service to the world? God, who is infinitely generous, rewards us for manifesting His power by means of the gifts He has given to us.

New Parish "Name Proposal"

Saint Mirabilis, the Astonishing
Submitted by Celeste Jones
(St. Elizabeth, Mother of John the Baptist)

"Naming the newly merged Parishes erected through the merger of OLHC (Divine Love), SA (Catholic Faith), SEMJB (Devotion & Charity) and SM (Angels) signifies here what Saint Mirabilis has shown us as parishioners of this newly formed parish... 'We are ready when the unexpected occurs!'

This is our time of resurrection as well to help raise this new parish be full of vigor, stupefy with amazement as we chart this new course together."

"Christina the Astonishing, also known as Christina Mirabilis, was born to a religious family, the youngest of three daughters, in Belgium. After being orphaned at the age of fifteen, she worked taking the herds to pasture. She suffered a massive seizure when she was in her early twenties. Her condition was so severe that witnesses assumed she had died. A funeral was held, but during the service, "she arose full of vigor, stupefying with amazement the whole city, which had witnessed this wonder. She levitated up to the rafters, later explaining that she could not bear the smell of the sinful people there. Christina is primarily known for her legendary resurrection during her funeral mass, and numerous other miracles attributed to her during her life.

She related that she had witnessed Heaven, Hell and Purgatory. She said that as soon as her soul was separated from her body, angels conducted it to a very gloomy place, entirely filled with souls enduring such torments that it was impossible to describe them. She claimed that she had been offered a choice of either remaining in heaven or returning to earth to perform penance in order to deliver souls from the flames of Purgatory. Christina agreed to return to life and in that instant stood up. She told those around her that she had returned to life for the sole purpose of bringing relief to the departed and conversion to sinners.

Christina renounced all of life's comforts, reduced herself to extreme destitution, dressed in rags, lived without home or hearth, and not content with these privations eagerly sought out all that could cause her suffering. At first, she fled human contact and, suspected of being possessed, was jailed. Upon her release, she took up the practice of extreme penance.

Thomas of Cantimpré, then a canon regular who was a professor of theology, wrote a report eight years after her death, based on the accounts of those who knew her.

The reference was to Cardinal Jacques de Vitry, who met her and recounted that she would throw herself into burning furnaces and there suffer great tortures for extended times, uttering frightful cries, yet coming forth with no sign of burns upon her. In winter she would plunge into the frozen Meuse River for hours and even days and weeks at a time, all the while praying to God and imploring his mercy. She sometimes allowed herself to be carried by the currents downriver to a mill where the wheel 'whirled her round in a manner frightful to behold', yet she never suffered any dislocations or broken bones. She was chased by dogs which bit her.

After being jailed a second time, upon her release she moderated her approach somewhat. Christina died at the Dominican Convent of Saint Catherine in Sint-Truiden, of natural causes, aged 74. The prioress there later testified that, despite her behaviour, Christina would humbly and fully obey any command given her by the prioress.

While for some Christina's Vita is an example of credulous medieval superstition, historian Barbara Newman finds that there is reason to understand Christina's behavior in terms of hysteria.

Christina the Astonishing has been recognized as a saint since the 12th century. She was placed in the calendar of the saints by at least two bishops of the Catholic Church in two different centuries that also recognized her life in a religious order and preservation of her relics. The Catholic Church allows and recognizes veneration of saints upheld by the laity; canonization is understood as a re-affirming of the more notable examples of Christian life as mentioned in the Catechism of the Catholic Church, and Saint Christina the Astonishing, having early church recognition, is due her title of Saint as stated by the church's Magisterium and sacred tradition.

Veneration of Christina the Astonishing has never been formally approved by the Catholic Church, but there remains a strong devotion to her in her native region of Limburg. Prayers are traditionally said to Christina to seek her intercession for millers, for those suffering from mental illness, and for mental health workers."
