RECONCILIATION

One (1) hour before Mass and by Appointment

Pastor's Pen

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Grace to you and peace! Well, we have arrived at the third Sunday of the Advent season, a Sunday known as "Gaudete Sunday."

"Gaudete" is the Latin word for "rejoice." This title is pulled from today's entrance antiphon from St. Paul's Letter to the Philippians, where he writes, "Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say, rejoice." In the Latin we read "Gaudete in Domino semper..." Hence, we refer to it as "Gaudete Sunday." This is also the Sunday where the priests and deacons wear rose vestments. Rose is symbolic of joy, in particular, the joy of the Holy Spirit.

Now, this appeal of St. Paul is not just a little advice or an encouragement. Surprisingly, it's a command! And not only is he telling his audience at Philippi to rejoice, he is saying to do it always. The good news here is that whenever the Lord gives a command, he also gives us the power to fulfill it! His words are not empty words meant to place unnecessary burdens on us. No! His words have the power to effect what they signify. God never leaves us without. Whatever the circumstances, God promises us He will always supply sufficient grace. It is for us to trust in His word and step out in faith.

So, let us heed this command and rejoice in Him! For, as St. Paul tells us, "...the Lord is near." He is "Emmanuel," "God-with-us" always! My prayers remain for you all. I hope the remainder of your Advent season is joy-filled and blessed.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Fr. Scott Scheiderer
Parochial Administrator of OLHC, SA, SEMJB, and SMA

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON

PARISH NEWS*Prayer to St. Michael*

Saint Michael, the Archangel, defend us in battle, be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray; and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly host, by the power of God, cast into Hell Satan and all the evil spirits who prowl about the world seeking the ruin of souls.

Amen.

Third Sunday of Advent

NEWS FROM THE ARCHDIOCESE COMMUNITY

The third candle is the Shepherd's Candle, as we remember to rejoice in Christ's birth, like the shepherds on the first Christmas Eve. It is also called Gaudete

Sunday from the Latin Philippians 4:4, 5 "rejoice in the Lord always." The third candle is usually pink or rose-colored. Pink is associated with joy, and it is on the third Sunday of Advent, that we turn from repentance towards the celebration of Christ's imminent birth.

GAUDETE SUNDAY

Rejoice! On Gaudete Sunday we remember the joy that is coming soon to the world: Jesus Christ. Where do we find joy in life? If we seek it in anything but Christ, we are missing out because true joy comes from the knowledge that God loves us and has come to save us from sin and death. As John the Baptist preached, true joy comes by way of repentance. Our desire for holiness and pursuit of genuine freedom from sin and death inspire us to renounce evil and to open a place for Christ to enter our hearts, minds, and souls. When we are open to experiencing the grace of Christ, we can receive mercy, forgiveness, healing, consolation, and peace along with joy.

Missionary Discipleship

SAVE THE DATE!

New Parish “Name Proposal”

Saint Katharine Drexel
Submitted by Lynn Woolfolk

“St. Katharine Drexel founded the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, who served Black and Indigenous American communities.”

“Katharine Mary Drexel was born Catherine Marie Drexel in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on November 26, 1858, to Francis Anthony Drexel and Hannah Langstroth. She had an older sister, Elizabeth. Her family owned a considerable banking fortune, and her uncle Anthony Joseph Drexel was the founder of Drexel University in Philadelphia. She was a distant cousin of former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis on her father's side.

Langstroth died five weeks after Katharine's birth and Anthony Joseph and his wife Ellen cared for Katharine and Elizabeth for the next two years. Her father married Emma Bouvier in 1860, brought his older children home, and had a third daughter, Louise, in 1863.

The girls grew up in a wealthy and religious household with charitable principles.

Katharine was awakened to the plight of indigenous American people during a family trip to the Western United States and was inspired.

In these early years, she traveled extensively, both in her home country and abroad. In 1886, during an audience with Pope Leo XIII, she was urged to become a missionary and to realize her desire to assist the Indian and African American population in the country. In 1889, Katharine Drexel fulfilled that wish by entering a convent of the Sisters of Mercy and in February 1891, she founded the Congregation of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament for Indians and Colored People. Drexel decided to establish the congregation to address the needs of Native Americans and African Americans in the southern and western United States, as well as the poor black communities. She served as first Superior General of the congregation and held that position until 1937, when illness made it necessary that she retire from active administration of her flock.

An appeal by the late Archbishop James H. Blenk brought Mother Katharine to New Orleans in 1915 to open the way for the education of the black youth in the city. This led to the purchase of the old Southern University site, and establishing Xavier High School, later known as Xavier Preparatory School. She financed more than 60 missions and schools around the United States, as well as founding Xavier University of Louisiana – the only historically Black and Catholic university in the United States. She financed Mother Loyola, the blood sister and successor of foundress Lucy Eaton Smith of the Dominican Sisters of St. Catherine de' Ricci, to care for Afro-Cuban children in Havana, Cuba during and after the Spanish–American War. The children had been orphaned by the war, and no other church or government entity was willing to support them because they were children of color. In 1942, the Republic of Haiti acknowledged her with the Honneur et Merite Medal and the following year, she was recipient of the Sienna Medal for the most distinctive contribution to Catholic life in the United States.

Other honors included the DeSmet Medal from Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash., 1938; the Catholic Action Medal from the Knights of Columbus, Santo Domingo Council, Philadelphia, 1938; and an award and scroll by the Catholic Committee of the South, 1942.

Drexel is one of only a few American saints and the second American-born saint (Elizabeth Ann Seton was a natural-born US citizen, born in New York City in 1774 and canonized in 1975).

The Vatican cited a fourfold legacy of Drexel:

- ◆ A love of the Eucharist and perspective on the unity of all peoples;
- ◆ courage and initiative in addressing social inequality among minorities;
- ◆ her efforts to achieve quality education for all;
- ◆ and selfless service, including the donation of her inheritance, for the victims of injustice. (She is known as the patron saint of racial justice and of philanthropists.)

Her feast day is observed on March 3, the anniversary of her death. She was buried in Cornwells Heights, Bensalem Township, Pennsylvania.

Drexel was beatified by Pope John Paul II on November 20, 1988, when her first miracle through prayer—healing the severe ear infection of teenage Robert Gutherman in 1974—was accepted. She was canonized on October 1, 2000, when her 1994 miracle of reversing congenital deafness in 2-year old Amy Wall was recognized.”
